WHAT IS AROMATHERAPY?

Aromatherapy is the ancient art of using pure plant and flower essences to help restore vibrant health to body, mind and spirit.

Aromatherapy uses the various properties of essential oils to assist the body's own natural healing processes and enhance well-being. Although this can take the form of treatment by a professional aromatherapist, essential oils can also be used to great effect at home. Essential oils are the concentrated extracts from plant material of a single, named botanical species, which can be said to constitute the very essence of the plant. Plants have been used for their healing and fragrant properties for centuries and essential oils are widely used in all sorts of products today. This blend of essential oils was expertly formulated by our Certified Aromatherapists to maximize the beneficial properties inherent in each oil.
